Bassano Loses

Opening Ballgame of the Season

Last Sunday afternoon, the first baseball game of the season was played on the local diamond when the Bassano boys clashed with the Arrowwood Panthers.

The first three innings were scoreless. Then on several Bassano errors and two hits, Arrowwood went into the lead 4-0. Bassano, in their half of the same frame, came right back with three runners on four safe hits.

The game played very even all the way through; the score reading 4-4 at the end of the eighth. Arrowwood scored three runs in the half of the ninth. Bassano failed to tie up the score, but all succeeded in pushing one run across the plate. In this inning, "Big" Margardit managed to pound out a three bagger, but failed to score when he was left on base.

Charlie Connolly, pitching for the locals, allowed very few hits and was credited with a number of strikeouts. Given better support, Arrowwood have started the season off with a win.

Richards, youthful south paw, hurled for the Western boys turned in a fine display of chucking which he must be given credit for. In summing up the game, Arrowwood seemed to have an edge on fielding, but the locals outlasted them. Poor base-running contributed to the loss of the locals.

The local boys are out practicing every night and they should be able to stage a good account of themselves at the Tournament at Arrowwood on Friday. Bassano's day game on Sunday was as follows:

Home: 3; Derby: 4; Cuthro: 1; Margardit: 1; Hayes: 3; Arlison: 3; Yule: 1; Snake: 1; Connolly: 1.

Bassano Girls

Defeat Duchesne

All of the prophets began to pull in their ears when the Bassano Ladies Softball Team turned back the Duchesne girls by a score of 14 to 9 on Sunday of this week on the local diamond. The girls didn't need to plead alibi for the loss last Sunday at Duchesne as they gruffed their teeth and said "Just wait till they bring all our girls down here and we'll prove that we deserve the support of any sporting town like Bassano."

The game started with a string of six nice runs by the locals. It looked like a merry-go-round. But unfortunately the rasping rasps from one or two of the Duchesne error was too much for the Bassano pitcher, and a series of walks made up for the gain. The pitcher was changed and the game looked better, but that pitcher was just itching to try again, so back she went and redeemed herself.

Olea Chitka was a standout for the local ladies and her jarring of one of those tall ones was enough to stop the Duchesne threat. The whole team seems to be well balanced and with a little practice the girls are looking forward to a win at Glenora on the 5th.

Dore says that the dimple on her chin may be a little more pronounced, but it was worth it.

The girls were overjoyed to find that the fans were just about as keen to see them in action as they were to (continued on back page)

Man vs. Gopher

Gophers, east of town, have been shocked—yes, even into death.

Gambolling merrily on the law, as in their work, enjoying the luxury of spring, and feeding contentedly on the luscious blades of young, recently planted wheat—all seemed well in their limited world.

Strangers make their entry on the stage, appearing from the west. Ever get them skeptically, the fears of the playful rodents were soon allayed. There was nothing to fear from this species of humanity. These men could not be the mortal enemy of the Gopher population. The gnat was stranger. Their actions were not those of the hostile, and their language indicated them to be far removed from the hated farmer class.

Even when the men commenced marching up and down the field, equipped with pails, spoons and other materials of war on gophers, stopping here and there at the entrances of their humble homes, and stooping apprehensive and went on again, even with the suspicious, the gophers were unafraid.

But alas and alack the day! Their confidence was misplaced. Stooping to sample the tempting morsels laid before their very doors, the gophers found they had been double crossed by these "farmers in disguise." They paid the penalty of death for their confidence.

But after all it only justifies and re-affirms the words of a "poet" of world wide fame who said, speaking of the rodent class:

"I am truly sorry man's dominion
That broken Nature's Social Union
And Justifies that ill opinion
Which makes these martlets me."

They poor earth-born companions and fellow mortal.

Mr. George Scott, accompanied by Mr. Allan Yule, left this morning by aeroplane for Edmonton. They expect to return tomorrow.

E.I.D. Continues Policy of Crop Mail Insurance

Brooks, Alberta, May 30th, 1938

The Board of Trustees held a special meeting on Friday, evening last to consider hall insurance. The following is an open letter from the General Manager to all waterusers regarding the policy for 1938:

Brooks, Alberta, May 30th, 1938

To the Water Users, Eastern Irrigation District.

The Board of Trustees is continuing a hall insurance policy this year. To provide an insurance fund it is making a levy of ten cents per acre on all irrigable lands of the District. The hall policy is primarily for the purpose of protecting the District on payment of water rates. The hall levy must be paid in all irrigable acreage upon which the water rates are not paid during the month of June. The water rates are now due: collection of them will be enforced before July 1st from all water users who do not complete application for hall insurance by 21st June. Applications are now in the hands of all District staff and may be completed without delay. You are urged to get in touch immediately with the District for your area.

The policy of the District with respect to payment of losses is the same as last year. No loss will be paid on a damage under twenty-five percent. On any fields damaged more than twenty-five per cent, loss will be payable to the extent of the funds available, up to current water rate and land payment, but not exceeding two dollars per acre.

In the event of the total loss in the District exceeding the amount of funds available proportionate payment will be made. You are urged to read carefully the detailed regulations distributed by the District.

B. L. Gray,
General Manager

Instructions have been issued to ditchriders that no water will be delivered to farmers who have not first properly insured their water-laid lands, leading from the District's tributaries.

Local Cadet Corps to Be Inspected Friday

The Annual Inspection of the Bassano Corps will take place at the School Grounds tomorrow Friday, June 3rd commencing at 2:30 p.m., with Captain Morton of Military District No. 13, at Calgary, conducting the inspection.

The entire Corps will be in full uniform with an expected attendance of 24 Cadets on parade. The Corps will be inspected ceremonially, and will display its efficiency in Squad Drill, Air Drill, Platoon Drill, Physical Training, Semaphore Signaling, First Aid and other work.

Last year the Corps won the Bennett Shield as being the best Cadet Corps in Alberta, second in signaling and third in First Aid. This is a pretty fair record to try to duplicate but the Corps is expected to acquit itself creditably.

Cadet Captain Robert Currie will be in charge during the inspection and will be assisted by Cadet Sgt. Basarab and Cadet Corporal Broadbent and Legebois.

It is expected that the entire inspection may last for about two hours and as there is no charge, parents and others interested are invited to attend.

At the top of this article are the names of cup winners and their classes. The honors are fairly well divided and we hope to see our good neighbors from Brooks and Glenora to attend the meet next year at the Eastern Division.

The Eastern Division may strengthen their bid for supremacy in field work. Of course we are not forgetting that the game is due this year, and the little matter of winning will still be a secondary consideration.

The absence of Brooks was noticed in next by several of our siders, and we hope they will be back in the track with the old vitality next year.

Mrs. Len Stander and Henry Huff won the prize money; Victor Archibald and Johnny Jacobson won the elimination dance; Edna Harwell and Keltie Marquess won the spot dance. The prize money was awarded to the best set in a square dance. The Melody Five sponsored the music and a lunch was served about midnight.

THE LIMITATIONS OF ACTIONS ACT

OUR GOVERNMENT has hashed-up a new amendment. After cautious deliberation and consideration they have reached the startling discovery that all debts incurred prior to 1st July, 1936, must—and therefore will be—outlawed by July 1, 1940, if a compromise is not reached before that date.

The point is that the creditor must secure a renewal before that date, but there is nothing to prevent the debtor from daily-dallying until his debt is dead. It seems to be an outmoded belief that some attempt should be made to pay debts. Even those people who still favor paying or attempting to pay, something on their debts, are receiving no encouragement from this fruity bit of legislation. Indeed dispatches indicate that Social Credit members are encouraging their supporters to refuse to sign renewals with their creditors. Naturally this will result in such debts being outlawed by July 1, 1940, regardless of the debtors capacity or ability to pay, in full or in part.

Our government has so much Saskatchewan dust in their eyes they can't see for looking. An adjustment of debts—yes. But it is a short-sighted policy which entirely condemns a creditor. In fact the day is not far distant when a number of people are going to be shocked into reality by knowledge that living is hard, without some measure of credit. —Contributed.

CAN MEN BE LED BY REASON?

ARE NOT the majority of men so limited in intellect and so bound by prejudices that it is hopeless to argue with them?

Perhaps. But modern history does not bear out the contention. The policies which at present prevail in Alberta have been adopted because the people have been taught to believe them. The people do think for themselves; they think what they have been taught to think by their leaders. Further, the ideas, for good or bad, which now dominate Alberta's policy, are the ideas which have been put forward in the first instance by detached and isolated individuals. It is the persuasion which they have conceived the idea and gradually persuaded their followers.

It is the same with monetary policy. The measures of the last year have been the result, not of electoral pressure, but the influence of men whose names could be counted on the fingers of one hand. The tragedy of it all, is that it is essentially the work of men of intellect. In the short run, it is true, "ideas are unimportant and ineffective, but in the long run they rule the world."

But reason is not entirely powerless. It may be that these forces have become so powerful that it is too late to arrest them—it would be unwise to ignore this possibility. However until the case, which experience and developments have shown, can be made against them, has been argued with patience and intelligence we are not justified in concluding the ineffectiveness of reason and persuasion. In any case, it is worth trying.—Contributed.

MUSIC IN FACTORIES

EFFICIENCY EXPERTS discovered a few years ago that shorter hours for factory workers represented increased efficiency and greater production per hour.

Following this line of thought, there was subsequently introduced in England, the afternoon half-hour rest period when tea is served. Some factories, however, have shown that the shorter hours of work, the results appear similarly favorable.

The last word in this form of experimentation appears to have taken place in Scotland, where, in certain factories, music has been introduced via radio and loud-speakers. An actual increase of 10 per cent in production has been noted in some cases involving laundry workers.

The typical Scot, having a rather nice taste in music as well as in Scotch, reacts adversely to the influence of jazz when at work, but find him martial music played by a good pipe band and the results in output are "astounding, even alarming."

It may be taken for certain that the canny Scot's manufacturer will take the greatest care in the selection of the musical diet of his employees. "If jazz" dies completely as a result, its passing will be mourned by a few, a very few.

A DUD FROM MARS

EUROPE'S POWDERKEG, by the barest miracle, escaped from exploding a week ago last Saturday, at what, according to Beverly Baxter has come to be known in diplomatic circles, as "one of Hitler's Saturday afternoon Political Matinees." Saturday appears to be the day on which Hitler prefers to launch his famous cups.

The shot from Mars, designed to explode in Czechoslovakia, proved a dud and completely misfired. Had it occurred in 1914 war would have been inevitable. To Germany the circumstances then were far less provocative than in 1938. Then why did she not march? Or did she learn a lesson from 1914?

Friendless, surrounded on all sides by a ring of armed determined opponents, led by a race of people which faltered not in 1914 and which, unlike the Austrian, preferred to risk extermination rather than lose independence; without evidence of much encouragement from his fellow teatime-buckler in the Mediterranean—Hitler, while Europe trembled, hesitated and lost his first major political adventure since 1933.

What stopped him? The world may never know. It may have been the determination of the Czechs, the assured support they would get from France, fear of the Russian bear, Polish hostility or Italian coldness. Whatever it was, Britain's attitude lent little comfort to his peace of mind. As in all things great or small, it is the little things that count. And certainly the action of the British Ambassador in ordering the women and children of the Berlin Embassy Staff home in England, whether authorized or not, must have disturbed him mightily. It may have swung the scales in the decision for peace—momentarily.

From Our Exchange Columns

A SERIOUS THREAT

PEOPLE in Eastern Canada have been incited up to the present to dread the Social Credit Government in Alberta as a "new day's wonder" which would soon pass out of existence, like many other strange political outbreaks which have marked the history of democracy on this continent. Similar to the coal-miners' war, it would soon run its course and it was hard to believe that the people of Alberta would long tolerate a ministry which induced an economic panacea, which has not been tried out in any other place in the world, and which it is difficult for anyone to understand.

But the time has been reached when the Social Credit Government and Premier Aberhart can no longer be regarded lightly. Mr. Aberhart is a man of intense religious convictions and a persuasive orator. Alberta was settled originally largely by people from the American Midwest, where Populism, Bryanism and many other issues flourished. They brought to Alberta their peculiar economic views and their stern religious outlook.

Mr. Aberhart was originally a high school teacher with his own views on Bible interpretation. He built up an immense Bible Class and finally established his own Bible Institute. It flourished and its own building was erected with its own radio station. Mr. Aberhart's religio-economic talks appealed to despairing rural Alberta, faced with drought and low farm prices. He became the hope of the thousands who saw no light ahead. Then he became converted to Social Credit and he was the Moses to lead the weary people into the promised land. Judging by recent elections he has not lost his hold on Alberta and now he has invaded Saskatchewan and is aiming to capture Saskatchewan, where elections are being called. If by any chance he should win it is hard to say where his ambitions would end.

Mr. Aberhart is today a challenge to Canadian national unity and a threat to Canadian credit. A year ago he was responsible for legislation which was a menace to the press and hit at the right of appeal to the courts. His legislation was sent to the Supreme Court, where it was disallowed as contrary to the B.N.A. Act. Now he has introduced three new bills which are nothing short of confiscatory. If they go into effect they will not only undermine credit and confidence in the country but will be destructive of the credit of all Canada. How the Ottawa Government can refuse to disallow the measures unless disallowance is to be abandoned it is hard to see.

Abertharism is becoming more than a local disease, it is a threat to all of Canada. The Free Press, London, Ont.

THE ELECTION IN SOUTH AFRICA

General Hertzog, Premier of South Africa led his United Party to Victory in the recent elections held in that country. The opposition is divided into a number of small groups amongst whom one factor sets separation from the British Empire, another aims at closer association with Great Britain and still another of labor representatives. Besides those there are a number of socialists and independents.

General Hertzog, the seventy-one year old premier, leads his party along a middle course. His objectives is to maintain associations with the British Empire without getting too closely mixed up in British affairs. It is decidedly advantageous to South Africa to belong to the Empire for commercial reasons. British markets mean much to the South Africans, just as they do to Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders.

South Africa has had comparatively prosperous times even during the depression largely due to the huge gold production from that country. Since the price of gold was raised in 1933, prosperity has been threatened to reach boom proportions. The farmers, however, have suffered particularly in the last year or so from poor crops, and corn exasperation is forbidden because of the low yield last year. —Hanna Herald.

YOUR MUSIC AND MINE

RADIO EDITORIAL for "Your Music and Mine" Program over CFAC Saturday, May 21st, prepared by the Editor of the Claresholm Local Press, and read by Clem King—

"As Sometimes happens once in every five or six years, and as seldom happens in a year after year sequence, the forces of nature have combined this spring to clothe the Alberta foothills in a veritable mantle of color. There are significant indications that the showing of wild flowers this spring and summer will surpass anything seen since 1927 and 1928.

"To the many people who have never seen this beautiful sight we should like to excite their curiosity to the point that they will set aside some holiday, some Sunday, or week-end, to drive into the foothill country and see for themselves just how far nature can go in her artistic temperament.

"If Alberta were in a position to capitalize upon this, it could be heralded as a real tourist attraction. We have enough people to travel hundreds of miles to view less spectacular and less magnificent attractions.

"A friend of ours who had toured the Holy Land described the hills of Palestine as very similar in appearance to the Porcupine Hills of Southern Alberta. Perhaps it was some floral scene as we will witness this summer that inspired King David in his psalm: 'I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh mine aid.' We in Alberta should be doubly inspired. We have the foothills with their riot of flowers, and should we require an additional source of inspiration, we need but lift our eyes to lofty peaks of the higher mountain ranges.

"Surely these great gifts of nature are not too close to us for our appreciation."—Claresholm Local Press.

HOW WELL DOES YOUR DOCTOR KNOW YOU?

The difference between a locomotive and a pile of scrap iron is that one is highly organized while the other is not. At least that is one very real difference. The engine requires great care and attention. It has to be gone over by experts regularly and it must rest from its labours at intervals. If any important part fails to function the engine will fall to deliver the power it is paid to deliver. But despite all efforts made to the contrary the engine in time does wear out and become the pile of scrap iron one may see in various railroad graveyards.

The human body is much like an engine. It is highly organized with many parts that must function in perfect-harmony if normal power is to be delivered. Like the engine, too, the human body wears out. But during the span of life proper care and regular rest will keep the mechanism functioning normally while careful inspection by an expert will reveal those parts which are showing signs of wear or are in need of rest or treatment.

Fortunately for mankind, the human body unlike the engine possesses marvelous regenerative powers, it gives a chance to function and perhaps a helping hand by the aid of scientific skill.

It is sound common sense to have your body yourself, carefully gone over by an expert at least once a year. — and if you are driving your self at top speed — often than once a year.

A splendid birthday present and one that is paying real health dividends to many a wife man is a complete check up by his physician.

Moreover, from year to year the results of such examinations may be compared. — You can note whether you are losing or gaining weight, how your arteries are behaving, the condition of your various organs and all in all get an intelligent opinion about what should be for you one of the most interesting and important things in your life — your health.

But this is not all the value which will accrue to you by any means. By allowing your physician to do over you regularly you are adding materially to his accurate knowledge of you. Then if an illness comes or you feel off color and conscious him is much better equipped to judge exactly what changes, if any, have taken place in you, all of which in an advantage to him (and to you) in applying correct treatment.

Thousands of lives are literally thrown on the scrap heap of disease and suffering each year because of neglect to be examined and treated as he proper time.

Finally, do not think you are a super-human and say that this advice does not apply to you because you are always well. The wearing out process is going on just the same. And strangely to many, but not to your Doctor, mental and bodily crash so often come where they are least expected.

etist if we hold that unless something is ultra vires it cannot be dissolved. If it is held that everything intra vires has to stand, then you are throwing overboard this Confederation."

At this juncture Hon. W. A. Buchanan, the Liberal Senator from Lethbridge in southern Alberta joined in the protest against the new laws. "In doing so he said that 'any movement would have been provided in his province for a great many of the unemployed if confidence in the financial integrity of the province had not been destroyed. Senator Buchanan continued: "Certain legislation destroyed the confidence of money within the province so far as making investments there was concerned. It also destroyed the confidence of those outside the province and so prevented money coming in to be invested."

"That legislation undoubtedly has created a situation which means that any person in Alberta with money will not invest in his own province, and naturally no person outside will invest there. Countless homes are needed in the cities and towns of Alberta and on the farms, but they cannot be built because no money can be borrowed for the purpose."

Fishermen take heed! The 1938 fishing licenses are now in and can be procured from Sgt. Clark of the R.C.M.P. The licenses cost $2.25 and must be secured immediately.

DO YOU NEED A RELIABLE

Tonic?

Pepton is a genuine tonic that has been used in many families for years. Pepton gives satisfaction. It helps people with faded appetites to regain an interest in really pulling a chair up to the table and welcoming everything in the meal from soup to pie. Pepton also furnishes iron to the blood where it is lacking in the diet. It is especially beneficial in cases of simple nutritional anemia. Other people who are convalescing or just feel weak find Pepton a great help in stimulating the appetite, so that more food is eaten to build new strength and energy.

GIRLS SOFTBALL GAME

watch the hard ball game. The Bassano Battery consisted of Violet Bacon and Betty Plamer with Dora Pearson behind the bat.

Norman Stiles handled the game nicely and with a minimum of the usual noise and fan roars.

We hope to see more of the sportsmen of Bassano out next time to do a little cheering and to witness the efforts of their own town girls who have practised faithfully and are a credit to the game.

With Jean Marquardt and Violet Bacon knocking home runs and with Frieda Schelke, Ethyl White, the Ferguson girls and Betty Plamer out there on the line-up, well something just had to happen. We won.
